A	Police Approved Bor Release 2003/08/12: CIA-RDP82-00457R0 4800060007-9  Polish Troops in Danzig	25>
торіс	versen months in pausis	Section 1 Across Section 2 Across
ndesperimentalisis sistema Je	DEV4	Kalia amanga lon
EVALUATIO		25X1
DATE OF		2000
DATE OBT	AINED DATE PREPARED 10 October 1952	i dirani ayayan sasa ku
REFERENC	CES	-www.vonc. and con-
FAGES	2 ENCLOSURES (NO. & TYPE)	O. SEPAR Chronic locate are ref
REMARKS.
		Parameter (2000 Member of Australia)
		N. T. Ball to Mary Charles Appendix
	25X1	Biblion in mengerahan spang
PRISE BUTT I de marye, primage	### 15 Part   18	THE PLANT OF A
1	Prior to January 1952, soldiers of a Polish unit, wearing red-ribboned caps, were quartered in the barracks installations on the southwest side of Al.
	were still damaged. Growns of 30 to be called an analysis of the barracks buildings repeatedly seen leaving the installation.	е
2.	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblasks and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Providence.
2,	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblasks and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Russian. Three builties under construction in the barracks area in January 1952.	ns , lddngs
3.	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblasks and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Russian. Three builties under construction in the barracks area in January 1952.  There was a military training ground in the wooded area northwest of Langfuh. Polish workmen stated that there were supply depots, pig pens and canneries the restricted Westerplatte area, north of Langfuhrences.	ns , lddngs
3.	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblaska and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Russian. Three builties under construction in the barracks area in January 1952.  There was a military training ground in the wooded area northwest of Langfuhr. Polish worken stated that there were supply depots, pig pens and canneries the restricted Westerplatte area, north of Langfuhrwasser (north of Danzig) which was guarded by Polish militia.	ns , laings c.
3. 4.	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblaska and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Russian. Three builtwere under construction in the barracks area in January 1952.  There was a military training ground in the wooded area northwest of Langfuh. Polish workmen stated that there were supply depots, pig pens and canneries: the restricted Westerplatte area, north of Leufahrwasser (north of Danzig) which was guarded by Polish militia.  In October 1951, Poles and Germans of the 1931 class were drafted in Danzig. University students could apply for deferment of two years. These recruits received training in Bad Landeck (P 51/H 43) and other places in Upper Silesi and were also employed in mines during their military training period. 	ns , ldings
3. 4. 5.	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblaska and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Russian. Three but were under construction in the barracks area in January 1952.  There was a military training ground in the wooded area northwest of Langfuh. Polish worknen stated that there were supply depots, pig pens and canneries: the restricted Westerplatte area, north of Langfuhrwasser (north of Danzig) which was guarded by Polish militia.  In October 1951, Poles and Germans of the 1931 class were drafted in Danzig. University students could apply for deferment of two years. These recruits received training in Bad Landeck (P 51/H 43) and other places in Upper Silesi and were also employed in mines during their military training period. *  prior to November 1951, the Polish infantry in Danzig-Langfuhr. The installation consisted of several buildings, including and no trucks.  Prior to November 1951, a Polish infantry unit of battalion strength was quartered in an old barracks installation west of Neufahrwasser, about 300 neters southwest of the western harbor basin. The installation consisted of a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small building and some small building and some small building and some small building and some s	ns , lding; in .a .ldzka g 2
3, 4, 5,	Prior to the fall of 1951, a Polish unit was quartered in the old barracks installation in the southeast section of the town on the south side of ul. Elblaska and the west side of ul. Lakova. Two officers wearing Polish uniform who left the barracks installation, were heard talking in Russian. Three but were under construction in the barracks area in January 1952.  There was a military training ground in the wooded area northwest of Langfuh. Polish worknen stated that there were supply depots, pig pens and canneries: the restricted Westerplatte area, north of Langfuhrwasser (north of Danzig) which was guarded by Polish militia.  In October 1951, Poles and Germans of the 1931 class were drafted in Danzig. University students could apply for deferment of two years. These recruits received training in Bad Landeck (P 51/H 43) and other places in Upper Silesi and were also employed in mines during their military training period. *  prior to November 1951, the Polish infantry in Danzig-Langfuhr. The installation consisted of several buildings, including and no trucks.  Prior to November 1951, a Polish infantry unit of battalion strength was quartered in an old barracks installation west of Neufahrwasser, about 300 neters southwest of the western harbor basin. The installation consisted of a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small buildings, and was surrounded by a four-story brick building and some small building and some small building and some small building and some small building and some s	ns , ldings in .a .ldzka .g .s 2!

Approved For Release 2003/08/12 : CIA-RDP82-00457R014800060007-9

SECRET

25X1

- 2 -

	low wall with an iron fence. No heavy weapons or trucks were observed.
25X1	positive that there were no mayal units in the barracks. **
25X1 *	Comment. The previous assumption that the 1930 class was drafted in 1950 and 1951, together with the 1929 class, is confirmed by the information on the drafting of the 1931 class in the fall of 1951.
25X1:

SECRET